

THE EDITOR - Book 4
The Missing Shot
A Daphne Taylor Mystery
Details on Setting and Locations

The Missing Shot's story is set in Bridgeton, a neighborhood of Portland, Oregon, USA. Daphne Taylor is a dedicated literary editor. Following her recent move from Canada, Daphne has leased a townhouse that overlooks the cove and marina near Jantzen Beach. Soon after her arrival in Bridgeton, Daphne goes for a walk near the beach where she chases a runaway sun-umbrella before it flies into the waves. The umbrella belongs to a young man who is not happy about Daphne's meddling in "his business". The next day, Daphne learns that Joshua Dario, the man with the sun-umbrella, has been killed on the beach. Daphne's prints are the only ones on the umbrella that the killer used to stab his victim.

Daphne Taylor will have to trust her instincts and her wits to get her out of this mess. Someone is obviously trying to frame her with the murder of Joshua Dario.

List of Prominent Locations in the Story:

Bridgeton, Portland, Oregon.

Jantzen Beach.

Inside modern townhouse located on the hillside near Bridgeton marina.

Police station in Bridgeton.

Shopping center near Jantzen Beach, Bridgeton