

THE EDITOR - Book 6
Marianne or Mary-Anne
A Daphne Taylor Mystery
Details on Setting and Locations

Marianne or Mary-Anne's story is set in Bridgeton, a neighborhood of Portland, Oregon, USA. Daphne Taylor is a dedicated literary editor. Reverend John Lucas has been attacked during the theft of the church records. Apparently these records are somehow important to someone. One of the names John Lucas recalls as important is Marianne Bainbridge. She is the sole heir of an immense fortune. Her father (who ever he is) will be the executor and trustee of the will until Marianne's twenty-first birthday. Finding out who Marianne or Mary-Anne's father is, or should be, is going to be tricky.

Daphne Taylor needs to put her instincts to good use. This case is baffling to the last. Even with all the facts in front of her, Daphne is puzzled. Too many pieces don't fit the picture.

List of Prominent Locations in the Story:

Bridgeton, Portland, Oregon.

Inside a modern townhouse located on the hillside near Bridgeton marina.

Police station in Bridgeton.

Anglican Church in North Portland.